AREA OF FINE ARTS

"We train students to minister to people through their art and contribute to the richness and beauty of life."

— Richard Major, M.F.A., Theatre Professor

THE GREGORY LIBERAL ARTS CENTER opened in 2008 with a state-of-the-art theatre and photography darkroom facility.

Fine Arts at Milligan

The fine arts major develops students' God-given personalities and talents by increasing their appreciation for and knowledge of human creativity. In addition to being taught fundamental skills, theories, principles, and technologies, students learn the history and current trends in the arts.

Art

Students acquire a strong foundation in visual art skills, insights, and overall aesthetic awareness, and have the opportunity to showcase their work in local galleries. Students are prepared to apply to graduate school or to pursue careers as professional artists. Some work in gallery or museums, arts organizations, and free-lance art.

Film Studies

Students prepare for film and cinema careers through courses in screenwriting, film history, documentary film, and film and television criticism. In recent years, Milligan students have entered films in independent film festivals throughout the U.S. and many study at the Los Angeles Film Studies Program.

Music

The curriculum is taught from an artistic standpoint that prepares students for several music-related careers. Graduates can use their knowledge of basic music theory, solo and ensemble performance practice, and popular and historical music literature for careers in musical theatre, vocal or instrumental coaching, or to assist in studio work.

Photography

Skills in both traditional and digital photography are taught from an artistic standpoint. One of only a few Christian colleges offering a photography major, Milligan students have consistently won juried shows and had their work featured in Photographer's Forum Best of College Photography Annual.

Theatre

Productions have been featured at the Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival and graduates are involved in national touring companies, regional theatre, and various fine arts fields throughout the U.S. The Milligan College Theatre for Young Audiences has been touring elementary schools for over 20 years. Another 20-year tradition is the annual student-directed Festival of One Act Plays and Short Films.
